Exclusive Event for HR & OD Directors

ROI

Real or Imaginary

Join us for an intimate evening of discussion and deliberation as we share understanding of the best ways to show the worth of training and development, and how in turn it can enable grounded investment to support change and progression within your business.

We are delighted to bring together a number of HR and OD leaders for an exclusive round-table event on the best ways to demonstrate return on investment through improvement in performance, and why short-term thinking will always impact on the long term prospects for your business.

Probably one of the most worthwhile events you will attend this year!
